

85,394 IMMIGRANTS ARRIVE IN A MONTH

Total for September Sets New

for European Ports.

Immigration figures at Ellis Island show that the month of September came near doubling the total arrivals of all previous months since the war, and even overtopped some of the monthly records during the big rushes prior to the war. Up to and including September 28 there were 85,394 inspections at Ellis Island, an increase over the month preceding of nearly 30,000. The figures show a steady upward climb from the 24,992 recorded for the month of January.

Last week there were fewer arrivals of steerage carrying ships and the number of immigrants entering the port numbered only 12,960, against more than 20,000 who were inspected the week before. These figures, however, do not include the aliens who have been detained at quarantine from the steamship Mobile or the passengers arriving on the Imperator, the Zealand and several other big liners already in port. Some of these will be landed at Ellis Island to-day.

La Savole of the French line sailed for Havre yesterday with 380 passengers, among whom was Mabel Herbert Usher, writer, and Edgar Eduardo Eraso, attache of the Venezuelan legation at Washington. The American liner Philadelphia sailed for Southampton with 100 cabin and 75 third class passengers. Among the passengers were Mrs. John P. Gifford and her four daughters, who are to be placed in French schools.

The Finland of the Red Star line, with less than 200 passengers, left for Cherbourg and Antwerp, carrying Dr. E. Heston Remington, Dr. August Ley and A. A. Thicker, on their way to attend a meeting in London of the International Congress on the Classification of Causes of Death. The Celtic of the White Star line sailed for Liverpool via Queenstown with 100 first class, 220 second class and 200 steerage passengers.
